The Legal and Administrative Responsibilities of Engaging Support Workers

Guest Speaker:

Sheryl Pooran

Families face many challenges in ensuring that their loved one with a disability receives appropriate supports. The challenge often begins with securing appropriate funding, but does not end there. The legal and administrative responsibilities that come with engaging a support worker are many and the consequences of failing to meet those responsibilities can be costly. This session will provide information about some of the best practices for managing support workers to reduce conflict and avoid liability.
